

Reflections on Seedfolks

by Lupi L.

Comparing and Contrasting Kim and Maricella

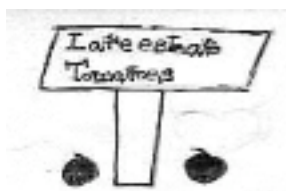

Kim and Maricella are both girls who are younger than twenty. But Maricella and Kim are both different in many ways. For example, Maricella is a little older than Kim and is having a baby. Maricella is having a hard time because she doesn't really want to have a baby and she has to work in the garden which wasn't her choice. She also doesn't have any friends. Maricella is from Mexico.

Kim, on the other hand, is not having a baby. But she is also having a hard time. Her father died. Kim is from Vietnam and lives with her mother and her sister.

There are not very many similarities between the two of them because they are both different ages and they have different difficulties.

What I admire about Curtis

What I admire about Curtis is that he really wants to get Lateesha back and that he really is trying to show her that he really has changed and that he doesn't want to be the kind of person who is the best and all of the girls want him.

Analyzing a quote from Sam

"It's a hobby with me, studying words. I looked around at the three walls surrounding the lot, then at the garden coming up beautiful, planted there close to the sidewalk" (pg. 30)

Sam is talking to himself when he talks to himself and starts up a conversation with the lady who was standing next to him with a woman nearby. Sam said to himself but it happened to come out "Paradise" and then the woman heard him and that is how their conversation started.

This pull quote basically means that lots of the time there is something that might be considered "paradise" especially in this case when you think something is that bad usually turns out to be the best part of it.

This quote matters to me because I have found that usually paradise does come if I wait long enough for it for example when I flew into San Diego California it wasn't at all what I expected it to be so I was kind of disappointed and then when we got to where we were staying it literally was paradise it looked like a millionaire estate from the outside and the inside was so after that I knew that there was such a thing as paradise.

