

Reflections on Seedfolks

by Ryan B.

Analyzing a Quote From Sam

"I've just switched battlefields, from the entire planet to this corner of Cleveland." (p. 30)

In this pull quote the character speaking is Sam. Sam is a man in his fifties. His goal was to change the world and make peace. He was thinking it in his head at the beginning of the chapter when he was talking about his retirement.

When Sam said this he was talking about his retirement. His job had been connected to the whole world and in the quote it's saying how his new battlefield is just living and gardening in Cleveland.

In this quote Sam is simply saying how he used to be connected to world before he retired and now he just has to mainly focus on his life he's dealing with now.

Sam is a person whose dream is to change the world. When I first saw this quote it reminded me of hurricane Katrina and how so many people are doing so well in helping the victim

Comparing and Contrasting Kim and Wendell

Both Kim and Wendell have at least one family member who is dead. Kim's father died eight months before Kim was born. Wendell however, lost not only his wife, but his son to. Kim is a little girl who is nine years old. On the other hand, Wendell is a man in his fifties. During the planting, both Kim and Wendell make a good amount of friends.

What I Admire About Curtis, the Muscular One

There is a lot of stuff I can admire about Curtis, but there are some things that you can not like about him.

Curtis, a very muscular man who thinks he's all that. Next thing he knows he's dumped by his girlfriend,, Lateesha. Curtis then try's to get her back by planting tomatoes for her. Then Curtis has to learn how to not be Mr. Cool Dude ,and become a nice guy who cares about someone. When I fist read that part I realized how people can change so much.